5.3.2: Presence of a Student Council, its activities related to student welfare and student representation in academic & administrative bodies/ committees of the Institution.

The Mahila Homoeopathic Medical College & Hospital has a busy Student Council that speaks for students on the college academic and administrative groups and panels. It tries to make the most of every chance to build and keep up an environment that helps everyone in the community live a full life and lead it to success. The college thinks that success can only be made if everyone involved in the institute works together. This includes the students, the staff, the teachers, and the management.

The voting system at Homoeopathic Medical College & Hospital is based on the Baha'i faith. All students are qualified for the positions, and there is no room for "lobbing" or "canvassing" in the college association. This group has people from management, administration, teachers, and staff, as well as a group of students who speak for the whole group.

The college body is made up of members from each class. The students in each class choose who will be a spokesperson. There are three main people in charge of the students:

1. The student supervisor.
2. Coordinator of culture.
3. In charge of sports.

All of the Class Representatives (CRs) choose these three leaders to serve for one whole college year.

Every day, the CRs are in charge of everything that goes on in the class. The CRs take any issues that have to do with management and studies to the right people when they need to be.

The deputy student coordinator and the student coordinator are both on the college association's core committee and the committee in charge of discipline. Because of this, they help make decisions on behalf of all the students.

Besides the three student leaders, all the other CRs are put in charge of different college clubs and activities outside of college, and they make decisions about how the clubs' activities are planned and carried out.

Each club has its own student-run management body, which works with the help of staff members who act as club mentors and advisors.

In addition to their regular tasks, they are in charge of certain events such as medical camps, workshops, and lectures. They are in charge of holding yearly events like celebrations for Sports Week and College Week and running the annual culture meeting. During the yearly culture meeting, these leaders are praised for the great work they did during the year.
